About BG Wealth Group

OUR STORY THEN...

The story of BG Wealth Group started long before the company made its first real estate acquisitions. CEO/Co-Founder Craig Dunkerley, a real estate investor since age 25, made his first significant acquisition of depressed properties in 2013 in Detroit, an undervalued market. The success of this acquisition spurred the growth of BG Wealth Group and an international portfolio that includes Canada and the United States. This proven acquisition model continues to excel at building accelerated and long-term wealth for its Investment Partners.

Beyond Growth: Our X Factor

BG Wealth Group's property acquisition strategy introduces our Investment Partners into opportunities in undervalued areas projected for significant growth. These areas often include historical buildings and investing in them results in greater architectural integrity while increasing their value. As we employ our strategies and the properties are relaunched, this spurs economic growth. When the buildings increase in value, the community benefits, and our Investment Partners receive unprecedented returns.

The Instant Advantage

The sustainability of this model is fueled by our extensive networks in areas where growth is projected, sale prices are low and where our efforts can be propelled by economic development in the region. We then strategically re-position our real estate assets with targeted development, providing long-term growth for our Investment Partners.
